

Visiting KidZone Museum

Soon, I'll be visiting KidZone Museum in Truckee California. This is a story about everything I may see and do when I visit!

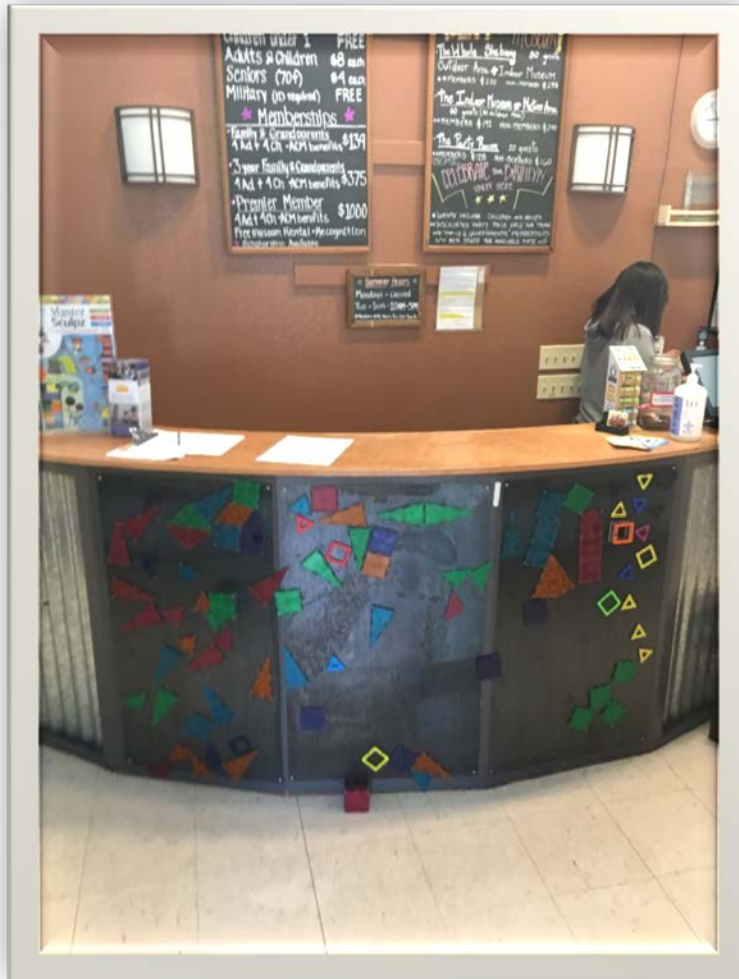

When we arrive, we will go in through the front door. There are coat hooks that we may hang our coats on. In KidZone Museum they ask that everyone take off their shoes, so there are even places for us to put our shoes.

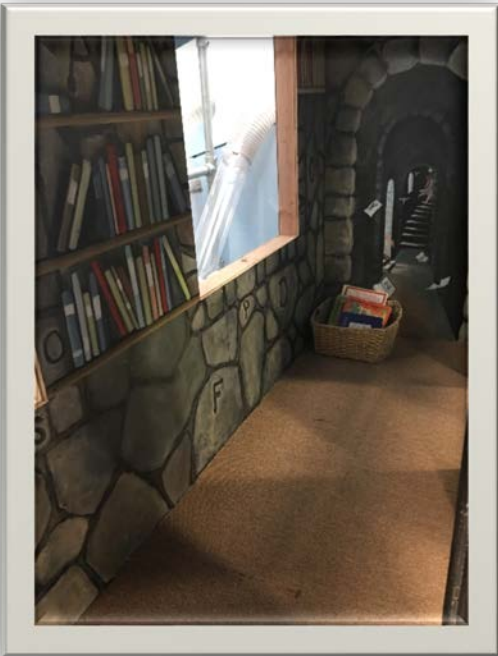

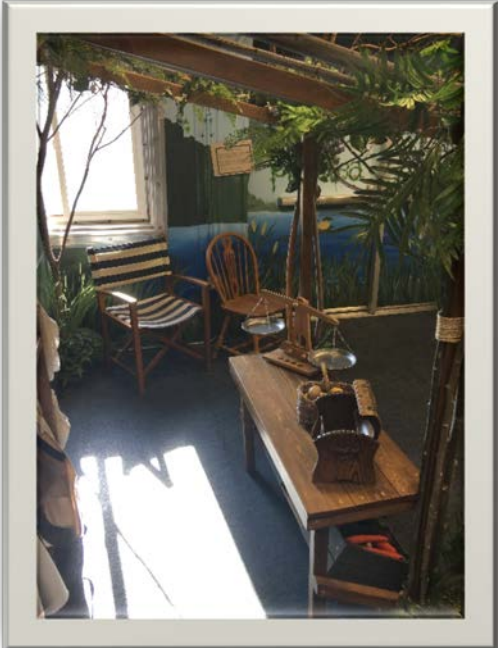

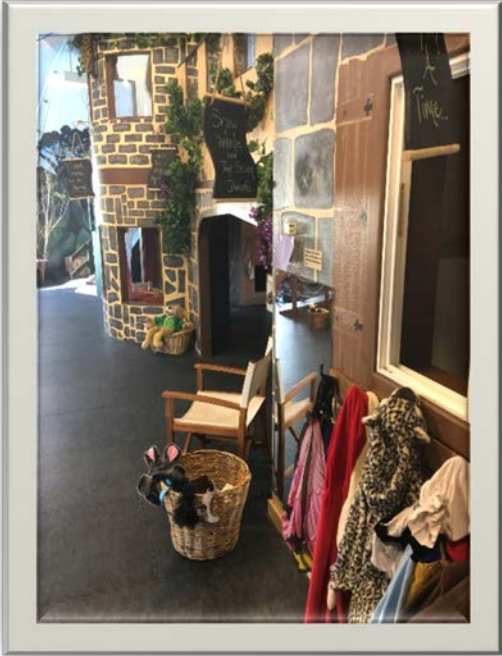

The restrooms are right inside the front door too. This is a good thing to remember if I have to use one.

Once we have taken off our shoes, we stop at is the front desk to check in. If I need help or want to know something about the museum this is a good place to go.

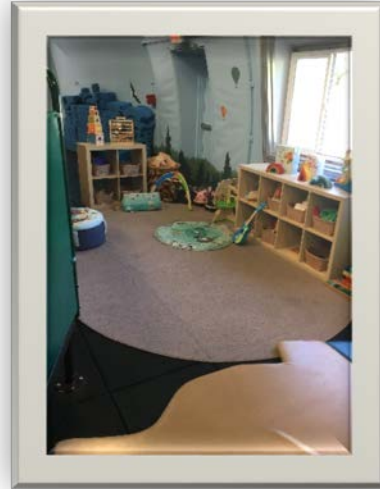

There are even magnets on the front of the desk that I can play with!

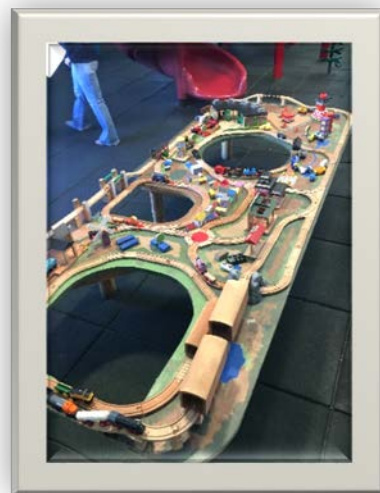

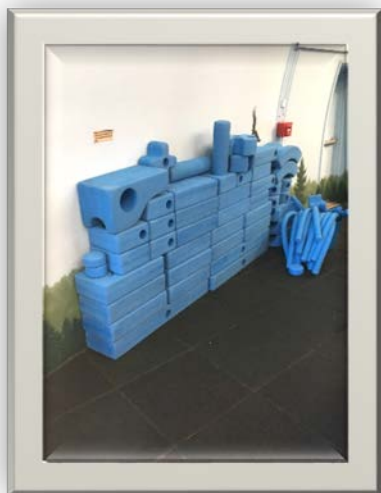

Once I'm in the museum there are many things to see and explore. If I go left I get to see an area that changes often. Some things stay the same but I just never know what new things I may get to see and explore.

The other half of the museum stays the same and has a lot of really fun things for me to do! There is a special area that is only for little babies, so bigger kids like me should stay out to keep the babies safe.

I like this side of the museum too because there are blocks and trains I can play with.

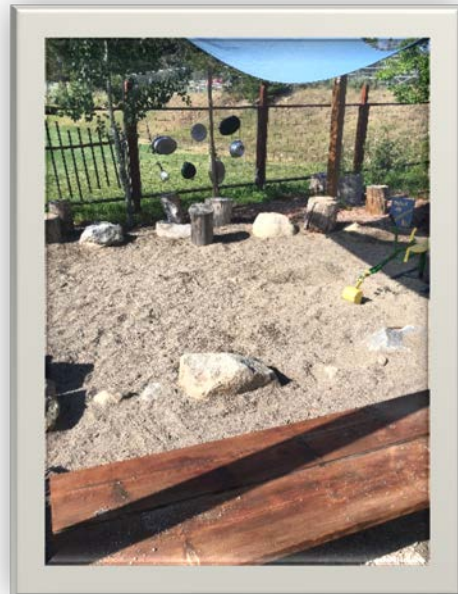

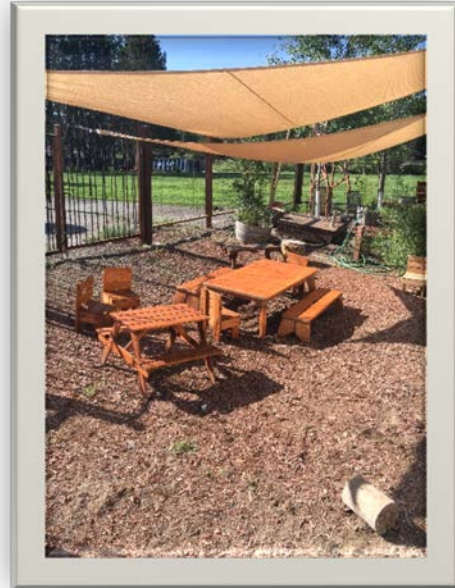

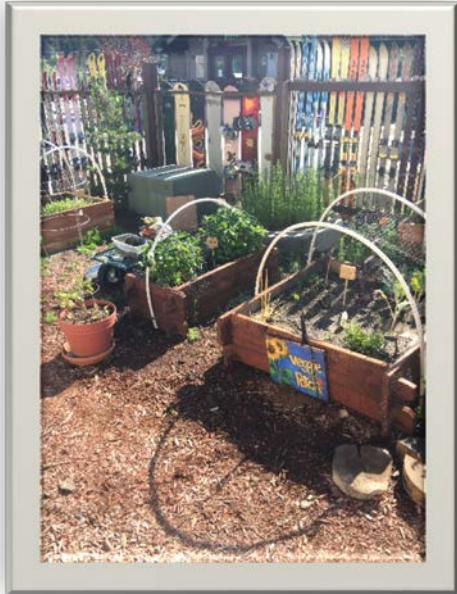

There are two other fun things to do on this side of the museum. I love sending scarves through the air tubes, and playing on a playground set indoors is a lot of fun!

Sometimes, I have the adult I'm with help me count how many times I go down the slide.

When the weather is nice, I can play outside at KidZone. One of my favorite things to do outside is dig in the sand.

Before I play outside, I always make sure I put on sunscreen and am well protected from the sun.

At KidZone there are also classrooms I can visit. In the middle of the museum is the art room where I can create something beautiful. On the right side of the museum, there is a science room full of fun things to explore.

In the science room, they even have a very easy to use microscope. A microscope is a tool that makes small things easier to see.

When it is time to leave sometimes I might feel sad. It's ok though because I know I can come back another time. On the way out of the museum, I make sure to wave and say "goodbye" to the nice person at the front desk.

I can't wait until I get to visit KidZone again!
